SAMPLE WRITING TASK 1

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you to seek permission to conduct a presentation, in which I may share the knowledge I acquired at the carbon fiber technology conference.

Last week, I attended the carbon fiber conference that is held in Atlanta, USA. The main theme of the conference was “new developments in carbon fiber manufacturing techniques”

I believe that the knowledge I acquired during the conference is very important for our company. If we succeeded in implementing the new techniques, we would be able to improve the quality of our product. Also, such a recent development would allow our production engineers to optimize cost and desired quality.

Therefore, in order to benefit from the tremendous benefits of the new techniques, I would like to share my newly acquired knowledge with the team through a presentation.

Thank you so much for your time and support.

Looking forward to hearing from you

Yours sincerely,

Ibrahim

SAMPLE WRITING TASK 2

Some school of thought believe that strong economies should aid the poor countries in terms of supporting them in their primary needs, while some others think it is due to the local governments to deal with such internal problems. Although both the parties have some strong justifications to support their ideas, I personally agree with the first group more because of several key factors including lack of resources in such poor economies, the fact that we are living in a global society.

The first important point I would like to mention is the fact that most of poor economies are suffering from lack of having enough facilities and resources in the fields such as education and food. As the first may lead to making them even poorer and also increases the amount of criminal actions and even worse in some cases potentially making some people to join terroristic groups. While the latter causes several unpleasant result such as children disability and death.

Another important thing is we should not forget all the people in the world are part of one community, the human being. Regardless of all the things makes us different, we all share the same biology. Therefore, as a human everybody should try his/her best to do what he can to make the world more pleasing place for the others. Moreover as it mentioned above, some of the negative results such as terrorism may directly affect the other nations including first world countries.

To put everything in a nutshell, supporting the poor countries to make a better life for their people will cause several pleasant results not only domestically but in some cases internationally and more importantly, it all is justified by humanity.
